9:54 AM me: how do you feel about Justin Raimondo, if anything?
9:56 AM Dan: Name's familiar, that's all. Cool name, though.
9:57 AM me: well, Raimondo is cool, Justin's a little common and pedestrian uh, no offense, Dan anywho
he was attacking me publicly the other day for not being sufficiently anti-Israel and for associating with the pro-Israeli Johnson 9:58 AM Dan: Oh, geez.
me: but I talked to him afterwards and managed to convert him to the cause in a record four minutes
he writes for American Conservative, if that tells you anything
Dan: Hey, you know, it would be nice to live in a post-national world, but the Jews learned the hard way that not having a nation can be a bit of a problem.
9:59 AM me: I know
Dan: Hope he's not a Buchananite.
me: anyway, I probably won't want him involved in any real capacity as he's a loon, but I wanted to check to see how viable it would be to convert enemies to the project
10:00 AM apparently it's pretty viable
Dan: That's cool. me: anyway, I'll talk to you later
Dan: Okay.
Ciao for now.
